

Ladies and Gentleman,

I am pleased to introduce you to our speaker, Maria Marsala, from Elevating Your Business. Maria helps entrepreneurs expand their businesses while spending less time at work!

An experienced entrepreneur herself, she entered the business world by selling AVON at age 14, and then hit Wall Street three years later. During her 20-year career on Wall Street, Maria made her mark at several "formerly" well-respected investment firms that, as of last year, no longer exist. With fierce determination and keen insights, Maria climbed the corporate ladder and broke through the glass ceiling. She became a bond trader and executive at a time when female executives on Wall Street were as rare as pink diamonds. For the past 12 years, Maria has been helping her clients streamline their operations, increase their profits, and live happier lives with much healthier businesses.

So, from Wall Street to our street...get your pens and paper ready for Maria's valuable insights on how you can make your companies and departments hum like well-oiled machines.

Ladies and gentleman, please welcome Maria Marsala!
